

Work

I will mainly achieve
Entry Level Qualifications

- Degree Apprenticeship
Higher Apprenticeship
- Higher National Diploma
Higher National Certificate
- Practical University
Courses at College
- University

Not always possible. Be careful!

Possible but with good grades check www.ucas.com

Advanced Apprenticeship

College - Level 3

Normally you would then move onto the next step once you have finished your intermediate apprenticeship

If you get good grades you can continue at college or switch to an apprenticeship if you feel you're ready. You need to find a placement!!!

Intermediate Apprenticeship

College - Level 2

Sometimes you can do an apprenticeship but whether they will accept you depends on your boss. The best thing you can do is to contact some businesses where you live and ask.

You can stay in college or start an apprenticeship if you feel you're ready. You need to find a placement!!!

College - Level 1

Foundation Learning

A Levels

The government says that you will have to do more maths and English until you get grade 4 or until you are 18.

You can go to work, but... normally only once you're 18... The only way you would be able to work is when your boss gives you officially recognised training...

I like practical things and I want to learn and to go to work

I like practical things and I don't feel ready to go to work

I'm really sorry but... this is not really possible. To get into A levels you would normally need to get GCSEs at grade 5 at least, sometimes even higher!

I like to do practical things and I just want to go to work

I like learning from books and in a classroom

At the end of year 11 I have achieved:
Entry Level grade 1 or 2 or 3
